I chose MIT Sloan because of the supportive community. I knew I would be given what I need to excel in my career and in my education. Classes are large enough to be challenging but small enough to be intimate and meaningful relationships with my peers.

"As an MIT Sloan student, I've constantly put myself outside of my comfort zone over the past two years. You know what's happened? I've grown. It's almost impossible not to."

– Daniel Rodriguez, MBA '13
Our students come to MIT Sloan with unique backgrounds, experiences, and beliefs. Their collective differences create a rich educational environment and a diverse campus community filled with opportunity. They fuel the experimentation and transformation that develop principled leaders who improve the world.

We believe it is through our differences that we find common purpose. We look forward to knowing and celebrating the person you are. And we are excited to see what you will bring to the MIT Sloan community.

We respect and value every student.

MIT Sloan is committed to providing resources, activities, and events that ensure a safe, welcoming environment for every member of our community, and we are proud to support a range of organizations that bring together students with shared passions and backgrounds. Our clubs and groups offer networking events, speaker series, and campus-wide social gatherings known as C-Functions that promote a culture of diversity and inclusion.

The MIT Sloan Africa Business Club (ABC) builds awareness of Africa’s promise while increasing investment in the continent’s consumer, agricultural, natural resource, and infrastructure sectors. It is a resource for prospective students, promotes MIT Sloan in Africa, and seeks to unite alumni in Africa or of African descent.

The MIT Sloan Black Business Students Association (BBSA) builds a community that supports the personal and professional goals of black students. The BBSA promotes business issues related to the black community, collaborates with groups across MIT and Greater Boston, and works to build alliances with people and organizations that value cultural diversity.

The Brazilian Club at MIT Sloan fosters connections between MIT Sloan and the Brazilian business and academic communities. Club members participate in happy hours, cultural events, movie nights, and other social activities.

The Hispanic Business Club increases interaction with alumni, undergraduates, and students in other graduate programs at MIT. The club fosters professional and personal development and encourages leadership, both within MIT Sloan and in the greater Hispanic community.

The MIT Sloan Japan Club promotes and celebrates Japanese culture, works to attract highly qualified Japanese students to MIT Sloan, and coordinates activities to enhance the experience of Japanese students and their families.

The MIT Sloan Latin Business Club sponsors an annual Latin American Conference that attracts influential business leaders, government figures, and academics. It also helps students forge relationships with Latin American alumni, recruiters, and businesses through its speaker series, recruiting events, and social gatherings.

The MIT Sloan Southeast Asia Club (SEA Club) promotes awareness of South East Asian countries and provides opportunities for students to network with industry business leaders.

These are just a few of the student-run clubs at MIT Sloan. Visit http://mitsloan.mit.edu/mba/student-experience/clubs-and-activities/culture-clubs/ for a complete list.
