Action Learning COVID 19 Travel Guidelines

The following recommendations are based on MIT’s travel policy that was published on August 10th, 2020. Please note that this travel guidance is supplemental to existing, normal Institute travel policies and is subject to change at any time based on local, national, and/or global public health conditions and governmental restrictions.

Definition of MIT sponsored travel

- Funded entirely or in part by MIT sources.
- Organized primarily by MIT (e.g., MIT selects the participants).
- Conducted at the behest of MIT or in furtherance of MIT objectives.
- Related to scholarly activities, whether paid by MIT or not.
- Requires the use of MIT equipment, supplies, or personnel.

International and Domestic Travel

- MIT has extended the suspension of MIT-sponsored international and domestic travel for students, until further notice.

Local Travel

- Local travel is permitted so long as it complies with Massachusetts Covid guidelines which is defined as travel in the six New England states: Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, and Vermont. Personal domestic travel outside of New England and personal international travel are strongly discouraged.

In keeping with institute policies, domestic and international travel for Action Learning courses will not take place until further notice. Please also note, for individuals with regular access to MIT’s campus, personal travel must also be registered. Onsite visit to local host facilities is currently on hold and will need to be reviewed and approved on a case by case basis by relevant faculty and administrative team. Site visits, if approved, need to adhere to the guidelines of Sloan’s Community Compliance Agreement, current state guidelines and host company policies. Should you require further clarification or additional information, please contact Laks Indrakaran, Administrator at the Action Learning Office at laksi@mit.edu.
